

The silent world of Joani, four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sevilla, is disturbed by the arrival of a brother, Jon. She displays her feelings by dropping the baby into a shallow bin, taking care that his cushiony blanket is wrapped around him. Her mother is horrified and brings her to the thinking room, a corner of which has a picture of a smiling girl. Her name, Mai, flashes and a hand waves when buttons under the picture are pressed. Balloons and bright tinsel wrappers fill a container tied to an upper ledge, so that when a red bucket is hit, the contents slowly drop. This was designed by Mr. Sevilla, who is also deaf, so Mrs. Sevilla can rest from Joani's loud tantrums and for Joani to have a time-out. In her active thoughts, Joani communicates with Mai her feelings and frustrations. This calming effect allows her to reach out to the love and embrace of her mother.
